The Korean Festival

Kapiolani Park

Experience Korean Culture at the 9th Annual Korean Festival on July 10 at Kapiolani Park & Bandstand
Special appearance by popular Korean pop star Kim Bum Yong

The Hawaii Korean Chamber of Commerce will once again host the 9th Annual Korean Festival, July 10th, 10 a.m. - 9 p.m. at Kapiolani Park & Bandstand. The one-day free admission event will feature Korean music, dance, food, cultural displays and family activities, as well as Korean-made and local products. Special performances by Korean pop star Kim Bum Yong, hyang-piri musician Kim Ho Seok, and folk dancer Kim Dae Gyun; and cooking demonstrations by chef Kim On Jin are features. Other highlights include Kimchee eating contest, a Korean Song Contest, and all-day entertainment and performances by local Korean dance studios, and others. Scrip will be sold for food, product, and some activities. Parking for Saturday is available at Kapiolani Community College and free shuttle will be provided.

This annual festival unites the local Korean community as more than 600 volunteers representing 40+ Korean and local organizations come out to support the event. Over 40,000 Hawaii residents and visitors are expected to attend the Korean Festival. The net proceeds from the annual Korean Festival will be used to improve the Korean and larger community in Hawaii. These activities have included trade and tourism missions; support of business-friendly legislation; student scholarships; free seminars about personal finance for senior citizens and immigrants, and taxation and business regulations; and other community outreach and service projects.

Hawaii Korean Chamber of Commerce, established in 1940, is one of the oldest Korean organizations in Hawaii. The Chamber's mission is to perpetuate goodwill among the Korean community. For information about sponsorship and how you can support the Festival, please visit www.koreanfestivalhawaii.com or call (808) 792-9321.

Sophie's Revenge

Sophie is a talented cartoonist who seems to have it all - a successful career, great friends, and the perfect, handsome, fiancé, Jeff, a surgeon who her mother adores. So when Jeff is stolen away by Anna, a beautiful actress, Sophie wants revenge. The first step in her plan, "Sympathy and Understanding," fails, as does the second step, "Nostalgia." Sophie's friends invite her out to a party to cheer her up, but she runs into Jeff and Anna. She also runs into Gordon, a photographer, who apparently has been recently dumped by Anna. She quickly elicits his help in her revenge campaign.

With Gordon, Sophie continues to implement the other steps of her plan. But "Reinvention" fails. So does "Entrapment." Gordon reluctantly agrees to help Sophie with "Arousing Jealousy," where they both behave like lovers in front of Jeff and Anna. Finally, something in her plan begins to work: Jeff seems to be jealous. A thrilled Sophie is convinced that the next step, "Search and Rescue," will be her final winning move.

But Gordon refuses to help, and confesses that he has fallen in love with Sophie, who, sooner than expected, is confronted by a repentant Jeff who wants her back! Who should she choose for true love and happiness?
